LOOKING AROUND
By E. G.

Thomas Jefferson, the third President of the United States, who was born on this April day in 1743, once said "How little do my countrymen know what precious blessings they are in possession of, and which no other people on earth enjoy."

Happy birthday to . . . Ethel Snow and John Kreider, the 15th . . . Mrs. Emma Clark, 95 years young, the 17th . . . James Cledon and Bob Hofmann, the 18th . . . Mrs. Jacob Snow, the 19th.

In a recent edition of the Moline Dispatch was news of interest to local people . . . "Dr. Lorimer Holm and his wife, the former Sabra Steward of Dixon (daughter of Mrs. Boyd Steward, 918 Fourth St.) who was a nurse at Lutheran Hospital before her marriage, are having lots of fun — and considerable work no doubt — in restoring the 180-year-old home they bought at Berlin, Vt. It was a stagecoach inn back in the days of George Washington, a brick structure which maintains the charm of days long past. There are three children in the family, so the roominess is appreciated. Lorimer is a radiologist at the University of Vermont."

Zack Moss and three of his University of Illinois cohorts spent their Spring Break at Dolphin Island, off the coast of Mobile, Ala. . . . Roxie and Jim Hey have returned from a 12-day jaunt to Florida's west coast.

Good Grief — Don't forget . . . Monday, April 15th, is the deadline for our donations to the A.D.C. (Aid to Dependent Congressmen) . . . this isn't a voluntary contribution, you understand, as are our gifts to the Red Cross, Cancer Society, etc., but we have been told that our money is wisely and sensibly spent . . . such as the $600 million that the taxpayers have had to pay for "port charges" when our ships unloaded our gifts at the ports of nations receiving foreign aid under the Food for Peace Act, Foreign Assistance Act, and the Military Assistance Program . . . and the $160,000 fund (taken from the taxpayers) to be used for the LBJ park down in Texas . . . and he asks US to practice austerity!!! . . . it might be a good idea if the taxpayers started standing up for their rights . . . marches, sit-ins, demonstrations, revolts — the whole works . . . but non-violent, you understand . . . it pays off for others — why not the taxpayers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Waffle and daughter, Wendy, were in West Palm Beach, Fla., this past week for a visit with Mrs. Waffle's parents, the Lyle Prescotts. . . . The Allen Gustafsons, Douglas Shaws, Dick Kellers, Gene Krahenbuhl and their respective offspring were in various spots on the Gulf Coast for sun and fun.

Showers of flowers to . . . the Mel Murphys, celebrating their 27th wedding anniversary, the 15th . . . Phyllis and Gordon Brantley, their 24th, the 17th.

Great to have Adele and Chuck Farrington in our town for a few days . . . left yesterday for their Twin Mountain, N.H., home . . . the popular young couple were feted here and there — day and night . . . And don't you just love that new dial tone on our local telephones . . . right snazzy — real jazzy! . . . Dr. John and Ann Van Nuys and their children, Tom, Julia and Tim, Waukegan, are here for the Easter holiday with John's mother, Mrs. George Van Nuys.

"HOW CAN IT BE?" . . . "My God, how can it be . . . that one boy lies rotting from malnutrition and torture in a jungle prison camp in North Vietnam — and another boy spits and tramples on the flag of this country on the steps of a university of learning . . . that one boy lies sightless in a U.S. Naval Hospital from communist inflicted face wounds — and another boy uses a communist flag to drape himself in defiance of the laws of this country . . . that one man of medicine begins his 30th straight hour standing over an operating table in pursuit of life for men serving this country — and another man of medicine implores crowds of young men to refuse to serve their country.

"That one Negro holds the face of his dead white comrade in his arms and cries pitifully in a dirty mudhole in Vietnam — and another Negro screams with hate against his white brother on the streets of countless American cities . . . that one boy lies in a coffin beneath the ground because he believed in duty to country — and another boy lies on a dingy cot giving blood to the enemies of his country . . . that one man of God shields a wounded boy from an enemy bayonet with his body and dies — and another man of God uses his cloth as a shield to preach hate, dissension and lawlessness. MY GOD, HOW CAN IT BE?" (by Joseph R. Holmes, published in Western State Weeklies, Inc., papers. Reprinted in "Success").

Easter greetings to one and all — and may the joy and beauty of Easter be in our hearts — our words and our deeds — today, tomorrow, and always.

DSS Tests New Chair

A 10-year-old child rocks cheerfully in a small, brightly-colored plastic chair, his elbows on the arm rests, and feet set securely on the floor. If he tires of rocking, he can reverse the chair to make it stand firmly in place; if he wants to play, the chair can become a rocking horse.

The chair he manipulates—a unique development in residential patient care—is now being tested for use in a residential cottage at the Dixon State School, housing about 70 profoundly and severely retarded youngsters.

Supt. David Edelson said the chair has a twofold purpose. It is part of a plan to brighten and make more homelike the environment for retarded youngsters at the school; and to provide for some of their basic needs. Because most severely retarded residents rock much of the time, the small size and enveloping arms of the chair offer them a sense of security while carrying on this action.

It was designed under the direction of Lute Wassmann, former head of the Institute of Design, Illinois Institute of Technology. Graduate and undergraduate students of IIT worked together with Wassmann and the DSS nursing staff to further develop it as part of the program for environmental improvements in state institutions. The program was funded through a $3,000 grant from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

The Institute of Design was named design consultant to the State of Illinois in April, 1963, by Otto Kerner and since that time has been working directly with the Dixon State School to improve its patient environment.

This is only one of the many designs that has just emerged from the drawing board and into practical usage, according to Superintendent Edelson.

Violence Subsides

By United Press International
The nation's troubled cities, moving steadily toward normalcy, looked ahead today to peaceful Easter Sunday parades in streets clear of racial violence, arson and looting.

Only isolated instances of gunfire and arson were reported Friday, mostly in Kansas City, Mo., where Mayor Ilus W. Davis extended a rigid curfew in a renewed attempt to end violence that has plagued the city for four nights.

Kansas City police reported 17 confirmed cases of sniping Friday with the arrest of two suspected snipers. From 8 p.m. EST Friday to 1 a.m. today nearly 200 persons were arrested, most for violating the curfew.

It brought the total number of arrests there to 750 in the racial turmoil which resulted in six deaths and more than 50 injuries.

In Baltimore a young Negro shot and wounded a white pedestrian apparently without provocation. The victim, Thurman Bridge, 53, was hospitalized in serious condition with a back wound.

Curfew Imposed
In Trenton, N.J., a 9 p.m. curfew was again imposed Friday night and extended to three nearby townships. An estimated 450 national guardsmen who had been on standby alert were released but riot-trained state police remained in the area.

Elsewhere the trend was toward the further lifting of curfew and the easing of restrictions.

Tours City
In Pittsburgh, Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania toured the city's ravaged Negro hill district. Only two National Guard units, whose headquarters are in the city, remained on standby alert.

Washington, D.C. experienced its fifth day of calm and some of the 13,000 federal troops moved in to quell last week-end's widespread rioting were released.

Cincinnati reported the removal of all National Guard patrols from its streets. In Chicago, authorities announced that the remaining Illinois National Guardsmen mobilized there and nearby Joliet would be home for Easter.

Council Delays Rezoning Action

OREGON — City Councilmen Friday were presented with a petition signed by more than 500 persons opposing construction of a new service station, and postponed action for two weeks to study the matter.

The request is from Standard Oil Corp., to break curbing for initial construction of the service station on property now owned by Charles Morgan, Oregon, at Washington and Fourth Sts., where Ill. 2 and Ill. 64 intersect.

The petition objecting to the station being located in the city was presented by Mrs. John Sayles who told the council: "It is a very bad spot for a gas station... it is a definite hazard."

"The building where the station is to be located isn't condemned as a building, and it could be remodeled into a building Oregon would be proud to have," Mrs. Sayles asserted.

Her son, John Sayles Jr., a station business expert, who is not a resident of Oregon, told councilmen that drive-in businesses are not generally permitted where there are walk-in stores.

There are a number of other businesses near the site, including a Gamble Store.

Edward Graham, attorney for the oil company, said the company would close another of its stations in the city and level that site and the site of a former station if the council gives the company permission to cut the curbing for the proposed new station, which is necessary along with rezoning for commercial use.

Darrel E. Sunmark, Dixon, district-2 highway engineer for the state highway department, sent a letter to the council stating the state generally finds intersections with traffic lights tend to become hazardous when service stations are located near them.

The Oregon Plan Commission also sent the council a letter stating "after discussion, members have agreed a service station at the location would be undesirable."

Other private citizens who were at the meeting to voice their disapproval of the service station said they felt it would "spoil the appearance of the downtown area."

City Atty. William Fearer said he believed the council had sufficient legal grounds to deny the application if it chose. The council said it would act on the request in two weeks.

In other action, the council: —Raised from 17½ cents to 25 cents per square foot, plus engineering fees, the costs of new sidewalk construction.

—Took action to make the municipal service occupation tax coincide with recent court rulings.

—Passed an ordinance establishing 20 "yield" intersections.

—Placed on file an ordinance establishing a $10 turn-on fee for persons delinquent in paying their water bills.

Two, er, Eight Exchange Vows

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Margaret Smith, a 38-year-old widow, and her three teen-age daughters were married Friday night in a quadruple ceremony.

"At first it was more of a joke than anything," said Yeoman Seaman Michael Ray Blakey, 20, of Indianapolis, Ind. "We're all good friends. The idea of one wedding just grew on us."

Blakey's bride was Laura Lynn, 18.

Her mother, a waitress, married the oil rigger, Minford Arlius McCoy, 38, of Muleshoe, Tex.; Edna Carolyn, 16, married Navy Gunner's Mate Richard Stone, 23, of Tampa, Fla.; and Rachel Elaine, 19, married Seaman 3.C. Charles D. Haines, 21, of Stafford Springs, Conn.

The four couples, standing in a line across the front of the Bride's Choice Wedding Chapel, were married in a business-like, eight-minute ceremony performed by James P. Sandefur, an elder of the Primitive Baptist Church.

A background recorder played "I Love You Truly."

The wedding was the result of a series of courtships that started after the destroyer USS Maddox pulled into Long Beach harbor last June 8 from a Vietnam tour. Mrs. Smith and McCoy, both divorced, were dating when Haines asked Rachel out.

Haines then arranged dates for his shipmates with Rachel's sisters.

Sandefur, who owns the Wedding chapel, performed 17 other ceremonies earlier in the day. He said he was "a little shook" when the couples first approached him, "but after meeting the family, I concluded they were a pretty good match. They seem to be very much in love."

It was his first multiple marriage.

"If anyone knows of any reason why these two... er eight..." he said as he recited the traditional vow.

Youth Arrested

Dixon Police Friday charged Larry L. Griffith, 19, 423 Swiss St., with illegal possession of liquor as a minor, illegal transportation of liquor in a motor vehicle with the seal broken, and a stop-light violation.

Griffith was arrested by police in the 200 block of East Second Street after they observed his car allegedly fail to halt for a stop light at Second St. and Galena Ave.

When police stopped Griffith's car for the traffic violation, several cans of beer were seen on the front seat. One of the cans was open and had some of its contents remaining in the can, police said.

He was released on bond pending a court appearance.

Happy Birthday

To Christine Huggins, 9, today.

School Closes

WEST BROOKLYN — After 49 years of operation St. Mary's Catholic School here will no longer continue functioning at the end of the school year, according to Rev. Lawrence London, pastor of the parish.

The lack of teaching sisters at the school is the major reason for shutting down, the Rev. Mr. London said.

He said that the Order of St. Francis, the sisters who teach at the school, had informed him that increased costs and because of the lack of teaching sisters, the order would be unable to operate the school next year.

The red-brick school house, built in 1919, continued to function after the community lost its public school in 1940 because of rising maintenance costs and the lack of pupils.

There are about 225 persons living in West Brooklyn and some 180 of them are children under the age of 18, of which 42 attend the school.

The children who are currently enrolled at the school, will probably attend schools in Compton or Amboy, the priest said.

for 15 minutes, holding the six-foot cross in front of him, then addressed 100,000 persons, his voice strong and clear.

The 70-year-old pontiff, who underwent surgery last fall, actually carried the cross for only the final four of the traditional 14 stations of the cross.

Takes Cross

He took the cross from his vicar for the city of Rome, Angelo Cardinal Dell'Acqua, who bore the cross over the most strenuous part of the march from the colosseum up the steep Palatine Hill.

Tonight, the pontiff was to lead a stirring Holy Saturday service in which bells are rung, the organ is played, sacred images are unveiled and festive hangings are displayed in anticipation of the Resurrection.

On Easter Sunday, the Pope will officiate in open air mass in St. Peter's Square and will later appear on the Basilica's main balcony to deliver an Easter speech and impart a solemn blessing "Urbi et Orbi" (to the city and to the world).

In Jerusalem, now entirely in Israeli hands since the June 5-10 Mideast war pilgrims and tourists thronged the streets to follow Christ's way of the cross. Israeli troops marked the start of Passover in ceremonies along the tense ceasefire line.

Army Ceremony

In Israeli homes, families set out matzo—unleavened flat cakes representing the bread the Israelites ate as they were guided from bondage in Egypt—for the eight-day Passover feast.

More than 1,500 servicemen including chiefs of the Israeli Army, air force and tank corps, took part in a ceremony on Mt. Sinai conducted by Gen. Shlomo Goren Israel, chief army chaplain.

Jerusalem was the center of Christian interest. Prayers and lamentations echoed along the narrow cobblestone streets in which Jesus spent his final hours before being crucified.

As early as 6 a.m. Friday, the Chapel of Calvary in Jerusalem was overflowing with Roman Catholics celebrating Mass. A cross was unveiled as a priest intoned the Good Friday words "ecce lignum crucis..." (behold, the wood of the cross on which hung the Saviour of the world.)

Reports Theft

A rural Dixon woman reported to police the loss or theft of a diamond engagement ring and wedding ring she left in a jar of cleaner at a downtown jewelry store.

The woman, Mrs. Anne Krivacek, Rt. 4, told police she went into the John Joe Thomas jewelry store, 220 W. First St., to have a watch repaired and put the rings into the jar of cleaning solution.

Mrs. Krivacek said she later left the jeweler but forgot to take the rings out of the jar. She said she telephoned the jeweler later and was told to return to search for the rings.

A search of the jar disclosed the rings were missing and police said they are attempting to get a list of names of persons who were in the store when Mrs. Krivacek was there and after she left

Religious Devotion
Motivated Genius

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
Little Michelangelo, 5 feet 4 inches, was 72 when he applied his genius to St. Peter's. He was old and tired but he assumed the added burden of what was surely the most monumental undertaking of the Renaissance, and repeatedly refused any payment.
He did it as a manifestation of his religious devotion.
An honest person lives in vulnerability, and the great Florentine's entire life bore the marks of the hard nails that had come through to hurt him.
But, his despair notwithstanding, Michelangelo redesigned this largest cathedral in the world as a jubilant fortress of faith, bright and dazzling in the spirit of "Hallelujah!" and dedicated to the reassuring resurrection of the Lord — the awe and beauty of a world emerging from despair.
In short, St. Peter's celebrates Easter.
In our American outlook we have not preserved all our great national principles but we have preserved the greatest principle of all: "In God We Trust." We remain essentially a religious people and Easter brings this important reminder.
When our forefathers landed here the first thing they did when they got off the ship was to kneel down under the open sky and thank God they had come and for their safe voyage. . . . to meet God in the way they thought right. Yes, man's claim to have progressed beyond his fellow animals must be supported, not by his search for food, warmth and shelter — which animals likewise contrive — but by his development of his spiritual values. From this we can date our progress as civilized creatures.
It is more than a coincidence that communism, as a totalitarian idea, is atheistic and makes war on religious thought. No totalitarian can stand the competition of man as a free creature under God. Nor by communism's very structure can it stand the preaching of the Golden Rule — "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."
There's an Eastertide everywhere of one kind

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT
Q—I have seborrhea on my scalp and parts of my face. Will getting a permanent wave aggravate it?
A—No.
Q—What would cause my feet to burn and get red?
A—In many persons who complain of burning of the soles of the feet the cause is hardening of the arteries, excessive use of alcohol or tobacco, Raynaud's or another. Religious feeling is as varied in its expression as the races and individuals that inhabit the earth. And all religious feeling has its personal value.

One object of the Bible, of course, is to teach us to live better. But it would have justified itself if it had done nothing except teach us how to bear sorrow and disappointment — not as victims of life, not as bewildered participants in a mysterious daily struggle, but as children of God.
The Bible, for the torn ship, the harbor.
The greatest believer in the rights of man, more powerful and earnest than all philosophers that ever lived, a defender of women and children, one whose heart was always with the sorrowful, was He, the Savior, who founded all progressive thought.
Think of the last scene of His earthly life. The brutality and ignorance of the mob that demanded the freedom of the criminal when they might have freed and heard the Savior Himself. Think again today about the journey to the hill outside Jerusalem. The poor women collecting coins to buy and give the condemned a drink that would stupefy Him and diminish the pain. The touching picture of the Holy Man putting the rim of the cup to His lips and refusing to diminish the sorrow and horrible suffering that He had willingly brought upon Himself for the sake of others.
In all the history of the world there is no picture such as that on the hill. The patient, upturned face of the Savior on the Cross, the sufferer destined to change the entire world. The Roman soldiers at His feet gambling for His scanty garments. The rabble hooting Him, the thieves on either side denouncing Him because the miracle they hoped for did not occur. The faithful women watching patiently until death should come and give His body back to them.
There are many wonderful scenes of heroism and self-sacrifice painted in history, painted in the blood of men willing to suffer for the truth. But there is nothing to compare with that one great picture and with the words spoken on the Cross: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."
Happy Easter.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been told I am critical, hard-headed, unsympathetic and a perfectionist. If you agree I will apologize in the front window of Macy's department store next Saturday at high noon.
I saw fit to criticize a sitter because she'd:
(1) Dug huge chunks out of a ham which I had planned to serve to my bridge club.
(2) Ate nearly one-third of a coconut custard pie which had not been cut into.
(3) Left a permanent ring on top of the TV when she set down a wet glass.
(4) Burned a small hole in an upholstered chair. (Cigarette, of course.)
(5) Talked on the phone for one hour and 20 minutes and

Dear Ann Landers: Zelda and I have been married for three years. She is a lively girl and has always had a lot more energy than I have.
About six months ago my brother Dick started to take Zelda to the movies, bowling and a few other places because I was too tired. Last week Dick, who is a salesman, asked Zelda if she wanted to go on the road with him for a few days. She asked me if it was O.K. and I said yes, so she went. They got back yesterday and Zelda said she had a groovy time. She wants to go again soon.
A guy at work told me I must be crazy to allow this. I think he has a dirty mind. I talked it all over with my mother and she said it was perfectly all right because Dick is a blood relative. Do you agree?—QUESTIONS RAISED
Dear Q.R.: Sure, Dick is a blood relative. But he's YOUR blood relative, not Zelda's, dummy. Put an end to this chumminess or you might wind up being your own brother-in-law. If Dick wants a female companion on his trips suggest that he find a nice single girl — and marry her.

Dear Ann Landers: What would you do if you were 16 years old and your mother kept harping on how important it is to be a good girl and choose your friends carefully and have high standards and make the boys respect you and then you found out that SHE wasn't such a good girl when she was 16.
Her standards couldn't have been very high and she wasn't very careful about her choice of friends because she had a baby out of wedlock.
Would you obey her or would you laugh at her?—BUFFALO TEEN
Dear Buffalo Teen: The choice is yours, but you know what sometimes happens to people who laugh when there is nothing funny. Someone usually drops a butterfly net over them.
Did it occur to you that your mother loves you enough so that she doesn't want you to go through the hell she experienced when she was your age? It may well be that HER mother didn't tell her anything and she had to pay an enormous price for her ignorance. If you disregard your mother's advice on the grounds that she is a poor example you are making a big mistake. She may be the BEST example after all.

Easter's Proclamation
Of Victory Over Death

Only those who knew the atom could advance the astounding paradox of nuclear energy — that the tiniest particle yielded the greatest power. And only those who knew Jesus could affirm the shocking paradox of Christianity — that dying yielded life.
It's incongruous. But it's the Easter insight, the special Sunday song.
"Christ is risen," the ministers proclaim. And it reverberates from the congregations. "He is risen indeed!"
A wild thing to think, and it didn't come easy. Yet in a world that proliferates the incredible, which knows that silence teems with sound, that voids swarm with images, that up is also down, that light floods through darkest space, the contradiction becomes the commonplace.
"God chose what is foolish in the world to shame the wise," the apostle Paul described it. "God chose what is weak in the world to shame the strong."
Natural, supernatural, normal, abnormal — the differentiations blur in an age when medicine overruns the meaning of miracle, and when material physics itself, in discovering that the least is mightiest, echoes the spiritual puzzle of Jesus.
The "first will be last, and the last first," he said. "For whoever would save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will save it."
He was a wandering rabbi from Galilee, warm, quick, compassionate, dauntless in purpose. With His disciples He roamed the cities and countryside for three years, teaching, healing, challenging wrongs, doing good. About 30 A.D., He was crucified.

God Beckons
Man To Reform
Life Here, Now

By DAVID POLING
Last Easter morning, in New York, a group of teen-agers from the slums gathered for a sunrise service in Central Park. The were of all faiths and colors, joining to share in the Resurrection of Jesus Christ.
After a brief early meeting outdoors, they went to a nearby cafeteria for breakfast and a discussion of "What Easter means to me." Their action indicates that it is time in Christian circles that we proclaim more swiftly the reality of Christ as our contemporary. Theillard de Chardin, the Jesuit scholar, was perhaps the greatest and most forceful proponent of this belief: that God invites man to join in the shaping and forming of life, right now.
We can have the dazzling and exhilarating invitation to be co-creators of life! This is our highest calling and Easter is the signal that it has begun. For death has always stood as the finality of man's hopes. The Resurrection of Christ stands for God's move against the tombstone victory and gravedigger's success.
But mark this now: New life in the Resurrection of Christ must not be confined to the historic celebrations of Easter. If this is truly an expanding universe of the Spirit of God, then it has already burst the bonds of ancient sites and traditional shrines.
We dare not limit the creative, explosive love of God to the sanctuary that knows only the Gregorian chant, or the Eastern rite of the patriarchs. The man or youngster that dares to say that Easter is for everybody cannot force this celebration alone into a Southwest- ern Sunrise Service or a Cathedral Mass in your nearby diocese.
No longer can we limit the Easter experience to be just the review of old manuscripts, time-honored anthems, and predictable pilgrimages of holy men. Of course, these are part of our religious heritage but woe to us all if we cannot enlarge our vision in the mind-expanding message of God's love. Jesus is alive.
How shall this be done? It may be the happy voices of youngsters rising above the clatter of breakfast dishes in a New York dinette. It may be a strange, unexpected sharing of the joy of this good news in the cells of Sing Sing or the pad of the hippie. You discover it in quiet conversation with a seat companion on the London flight. Easter is all about us.
Yes, it is found in the hus of the service that awaits you in a thousand sanctuaries across the world—but surprisingly and wonderfully, God greets you wherever lives have honored spiritual freedom, planted joy, harvested hope, and brought re- union of God and man.
Easter is for Everybody.

wrote. And the church has always conceded that its central conviction defies empirical reasoning, turns apparent patterns upside down.
Moreover, the recognition of it came only slowly and painfully, not to the general public, but to believers who had been influenced by Jesus, to those who had listened, questioned and wondered at his identity, who had noted the signposts on the way.
Out of that forged relationship, they gradually recognized—even though it flew in the face of their attitude and expectations—that he still lived.
Their testimony of it—in gospels and epistles—is dramatically persuasive. It changed them overnight from broken, cringing men to fearless, aggressive evangelists, so absolutely sure of their contention that they were ready to die for it. Most of them did.
As Scripture portrays it, and as the church interprets it, the resurrection was no mere physical reanimation of a corpse, in the framework of general observation, but a manifestation to chosen witnesses at God's initiative.
Nor is it considered simply a past external event, but rather a continuing reality, and also a glimmering of the future, an "already" in basis but a "not yet" in full application, a divine deed beyond history injected into present history.
It is seen as the herald of a new age to come, the promise of a fuller tomorrow, the opening of a fresh, beckoning frontier. "Behold, I make all things new."
The celebration of it, in its adaptation to many cultures, has accumulated various extra-religious symbols appropriate to its meaning, and derived from other spring festivities—such as the egg from whose shell springs new life.
The name of the holiday itself comes from a mythical Teutonic goddess of spring, "Eostre," whose ancient Anglo-Saxon rites coincided with the celebration of Christ's Resurrection.
It is the arch-phenomenon, needing symbols to tell it, breaking the limits of analysis and comparisons. But to Christians, it is decisively real, the core of faith, a revolutionary beacon in human destiny.
"The light shines in the darkness," John's gospel says, "and the darkness has not overcome it."
It happened on a Sunday dawn, following the Saturday sabbath of the Passover season celebrating God's deliverance of Israel from slavery and abuse. Amplifying that older sign, the resurrection declared divine deliverance from sin and its epitome, death.
In church teaching, Jesus is considered wholly man, yet also divine, the human manifestation of God, who suffered on the cross for men's sin, taking the penalty for it as their stand-in, thus offering them redemption from it.
But the resurrection says something more. It says that in the crucial, illuminating test between utter right and utter wrong, right has the final up- perhand, that goodness ultimately wins over evil, that life triumphs over death.
But this is no invitation to escapism from hard reality. On the contrary, Christianity's chief symbol is a rack of torture—the cross. It says that life is rugged and treacherous and at its very best, involves crucifixions. But it also says this is no reason to bog down in defeat- ism.
It says that through the suffering and in the direst hurts and tragedies and even by them, comes the final vindication. It affirms life as infinitely meaningful, with all its griefs and dying, and faces it with zestful heart.
Rather than suggesting a fight into some wishful "otherworldly" retreat, Christianity views the resurrection as the only complete confirmation of the value of history, the only absolute evidence ever provided that despite the injustice and the injuries, that justice wins at last.
This is the bedrock of the Christian confidence that the good fight is worth it, the Easter assurance that despite the reverses, the destruction and the ambiguities, that goodness succeeds in the end, that life prevails, that evil in the long run is done for, that "death is swallowed up in victory,"

Travel Club Program by Mrs. Marshall

The April meeting for the Foreign Travel Club in Loveland Community House featured a program by the president, Mrs. J. A. Marshall, on her recent trip to Sierra Leone in Nigeria, Africa, where she visited missions sponsored by the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The missions provide medical care and education for the native people, many of whom are Moslems with superstitions tending to retard their progress. Some are being trained to direct newly-established churches and schools, and others have been sent by the sponsoring church to the United States to learn modern agricultural methods.

The larger cities have modern areas, but poverty is prevalent, and the lack of adequate sanitation creates health hazards causing a high death rate among native children.

Cities included in the tour were Lagos and Jos, Nigeria, and Freetown in Sierra Leone, and they also traveled to the ancient walled city of Kano, Nigeria, located on the fringe of the Sahara Desert where they watched the arrival of camel caravans.

Mrs. Marshall concluded her program by describing the improvements made by the devoted missionaries and stated that vast numbers of natives have yet to receive the assistance they need.

Club Program Is Given by Mrs. Stegbauer

"Color in the Home" was the title of a program given by Mrs. R. C. Stegbauer Jr., at Tuesday night's meeting for the Dixon Evening Woman's Club with Mrs. Alvah Drew Sr.

As she discussed the use of color in home decorating, Mrs. Stegbauer listed the discriminate use of "something dark, light, dull and bright" as a good rule to follow, and stated that "color, used with good taste, produces the most stimulating interior decoration."

Mrs. Drew, Mrs. James Marshall and Mrs. George Holland reported on events at the recent 13th District convention in Emanuel Lutheran Church, and a certificate won by the club at the convention for achieving a 50 per cent membership increase, was presented by Mrs. Francis Jennings.

On display were the award-winning entries submitted by Mrs. Drew and Mrs. Jennings in a district membership art contest held in conjunction with the convention, and Mrs. Lewis Kanzler was appointed club delegate to a May 7-9 convention in the Sherman Hotel, Chicago.

Mrs. Norman W. Dietrich, vice president, conducted the meeting when the club "collect" was read by Miss Ruth MacDonald, and Mrs. Ralph Landis was introduced as a guest.

Mrs. Frank McElency, Nelson, will be hostess for the next meeting, and will display her collection of dolls during her program on "The History of Dolls."

New League Officers Are Elected at Annual Meeting

Mrs. Robert Collins, Sterling, and Mrs. Donald Matthews, Deer Grove, second vice president. New directors elected include Mrs. Donald Sprecher and Mrs. Arman Bushman, Dixon, and Mrs. J. J. Ryan and Mrs. Arthur Schick, Sterling. Mrs. Harry Wienman, Dixon, was elected chairman of the nominating committee, and elected as a committee member was Mrs. Emile Faber, Sterling.

Mrs. Orville J. Bradley, Sterling, retiring president and a recently appointed member of the state league committee on the Development of Human Resources, conducted the meeting which followed a luncheon, and read the list of candidates from which convention delegates will be chosen.

It was also announced that a meeting for the Interim Council had been rescheduled for Wednesday in Chicago, and Spring Regionals were planned for May 23 in Rock Island and May 28 in DeKalb.

Mrs. Collins expressed appreciation to Mrs. Bradley for acting as league president since 1964, and announced a program by Loren Young for the May 13 meeting.

Practical Club 'Guest Day' Is Tuesday

The Practical Club's annual "Guest Day" has been scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Loveland Community House.

How long has it been since your HOME had an INSURANCE checkup?

Today, it would take a bundle of greenbacks to replace a house or part of one destroyed by fire, windstorm or explosion. Every year the cost goes up.

Just as you check your health periodically, it's good management to check the replacement value of your home against your insurance. We can be useful.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE F-542: Lois D., aged 33, is a housewife.
"Dr. Crane," she began, "our main bank moved into beautiful new quarters recently.
"So I attended its 'open house' celebration.
"But I can't understand why the architect didn't consult a psychologist before he designed the new structure.
"For the banker is now placed out in plain sight at a desk where all the patrons can watch him.

"But when a person wants to consult a banker, he doesn't relish being on public display."
"When you want to borrow money, you don't like to advertise your private business to the world!"
"Why, this new bank eliminates the former confidential, private atmosphere!"
"I'd now feel about as embarrassed seeking a loan as if I consulted my physician and he did a physical examination out on the sidewalk!"
"Psychiatry for Architects
Lois has a lot of folks who also can't understand the bizarre style or architecture now evident throughout America.
And that applies not just to banks or public buildings but even to churches.
Some of the latter are so grotesque you think they must be hot dog emporiums.
Until you draw close enough to read the name on the bulletin board, you can't even guess what these modern monstrosities are for!
In fact, I have been invited to occupy pulpits in some of these nightmarish buildings that looked like a hybrid of a pagoda and a hot dog stand.
And I use the word "nightmarish" advisedly.
For it seems that some of the modern architects must either have made their drawings while undergoing delirium tremens or while experiencing an acute psychosis!
Recently I was riding with my daughter Judy when we approached a village of about 1,000 population, located in a mountain valley.

Ahead of us we could see the spire and cross of an old church around which the houses were clustered.
"Daddy," Judy began, "there's the kind of a church that really inspires people."
And that is true, despite the new breed of beatnik church architects.
For society has evolved a set of stereotypes that deserve to be retained.
You don't expect a clergyman to be attired in a bartender's apron.
Nor do you expect a church edifice to be a World's Fair monstrosity.
Doctors, judges, teachers and our older preachers have evolved a social status that indicates the decorum and scientific prestige which they have merited after many generations of faithful service.
So why don't you laymen as-

Soph Tracksters Defeat Newman

The Dixon Dukelet Frosh-soph tracksters defeated the Newman Comet Sophomore squad in a dual track meet Thursday evening at the Newman Central field.

The Dixonites scored seven first places in the 14 event meet, but again their superior depth proved to be more than the Newman tracksters could handle.

Dixon swept the shot put event and the pole vault events as well as the discus event to insure their first win of the season, after falling to Rock Falls in their initial outing of the season.

The first place finishes were evenly divided among seven Dixon competitors, as no one man from the Purple and White was able to capture two events.

Bill Klocke of Newman was the only double winner of the meet, as the Comet freshman scored first place finishes in both the 440 yard dash and the 220 yard dash.

The times and distances for the sophomore meet were very good considering the early stages of the track season, and the limited amount of training both teams have been able to get in because of the cool weather in the area during the past several weeks.

Final score of the sophomore meet was Dixon 69—Newman 49.

Once A Met Always A Met

By United Press International

Once a Met, always a Met has to be the tag for Bob Johnson, the handyman infielder picked up by the Cincinnati Reds last November from the New York Mets.

Johnson was heading home with what would have been the tying run in the ninth inning Friday night of the Cincinnati-Atlanta game.

But he tripped and fell down rounding third, triggering the strangest play of the new season and enabling Atlanta to nail down a 4-3 victory in an unusual contest that even the Mets would have had trouble matching.

In the only other game on a tight Good Friday schedule, Houston edged Philadelphia 5-2 to take over the National League lead with a 3-0 record.

A pinch-runner, Johnson was speeding home when Pete Rose lined a drive to leftfield. Johnson seemed a cinch to score, but he tripped, and as he scrambled to his feet he went back for third since by this time Mike Lum had thrown the ball in.

Rose Trapped

The only problem was that Rose was also heading for third from the other direction.

Third baseman Cleo Boyer trapped Rose in a rundown when Johnson belatedly broke for the plate. Johnson was thrown out and the rally was quickly snuffed out.

The strange windup to the contest overshadowed the fine effort by winning pitcher Phil Niekro, who slammed his first major league homer in the seventh inning. Catcher Bob Tillman, who was sent into the game when Joe Torre split a finger when he was hit by a foul ball, hit a two-run homer over the centerfield fence later in that inning to boost the lead to 4-1. Sonny Jackson homered in the third for the Braves' other run.

Niekro was lifted in the eighth after walking pinch-hitter Mack Jones and giving up successive singles to Pete Rose, Alex Johnson and Vada Pinson. Cecil Upshaw replaced Niekro and surrendered a run-scoring single to Tony Perez before retiring the side.

Astros Lead

For one day, at least, the St. Louis Cardinals aren't in first place in the National League. While St. Louis (2-0) was idle, Houston moved a half-game ahead of the Cards with its victory over Philadelphia.

The Astros won it with a four-run rally in the fifth inning that was keyed by Rusty Staub's two-run double. Staub's two-out smash drove in Ron Davis and Joe Morgan with the tying and go-ahead runs and knocked out Phil's starter Woody Fryman. Reliever Dick Farrell walked the next two batters to force across Houston's fourth run of the inning.

Denny Lemaster, with relief help from John Buzhardt in the eighth inning, was credited with the victory, although he yielded 11 hits and walked four.

Arnies Army Shocked; Palmer Eliminated

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN

UPI Executive Sports Editor

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — What's left of the field started chasing co-leaders Gary Player and Don January today in the third round of a Masters golf tournament so wild and mixed-up that a guy named Arnold Palmer will be just a TV spectator.

Once upon a short time ago they called Player, Palmer, and Jack Nicklaus the "big three" of pro golf.

Player, tied at 139 with PGA champion Don January, was right in there scrapping for the title as 52 survivors set out over the lush Augusta National course—and so was Nicklaus, sitting pretty just one stroke away from the lead in a tie with two others at 140.

But for Palmer, the only four-time Masters champion, the 1968 Masters is—amazingly, unbelievably, shockingly—over. While the stunned soldiers of "Arnie's Army" turn to watching other old and some new heroes, their general headed for Augusta's bush field and an earlier-than-planned ride in his private jet plane back home to Laurel Valley, Pa., where maybe, like thousands of fans and duffers, he would watch Saturday's third round and Sunday's finale on television.

Falls For First Time

The debacle of Palmer, the first time in 14 appearances here that he failed to make the 36-hole cutoff, was almost more of a shock than Jack Nicklaus' elimination a year ago. Palmer shot par 72 in the opening round, then 79 Friday including three shots into the water—two on the same hole, the 15th, where he carded a triple-bogey eight.

Palmer insisted that he hasn't any physical troubles.

"I wasn't even on the golf course," he said, adding "I was somewhere else," which, of course, he really be today.

But neither Player nor January backed into the Masters lead. Player seized it with a 5-under-par 67 after his opening 72, and January climbed on board with a 4-under-par 68 that included his second eagle of the tournament, done with a 35-foot chip shot into the cup on the 13th.

Hard on the co-leaders heels are Nicklaus, who had 71; Bob Goalby, who had 70 and Frank Beard. It was Beard who caught the Friday gallery napping as he stormed from behind with the day's best round, a 7-under-par 65 that missed Nicklaus course record by just one stroke.

And heading into the third round only two strokes off the lead was another surprise—Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., at 141 after a 72. Aaron's the guy who's won $200,000 playing golf, even though he's never won a tournament.

Player is the only foreigner who ever won the Masters (1961) but other strong invaders are in close contention at 142, only three strokes behind. They were Australia's Bruce Devlin, England's Tony Jacklin, and Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo. Tied with them were Yanks Bert Yancey and Ray Floyd.

Billy Casper was in an eight-way tie at 143, four strokes behind, after leading the first round by four strokes. Billy got a third-hole birdie and then his "inner peace" must have come unstuck because he had five bogeys in the next eight holes.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—The first thing Art Wall is going to do today is hunt up Bruce Devlin.

When he finds him, he's going to apologize.

The apology will be sincere and it will be made quietly and inconspicuously because that's the way Art Wall is. If you've ever heard the definition of class, then you've got the perfect description of Art Wall.

Devlin, the skinny, friendly 30-year-old Aussie, is in good shape for today's third round in the Masters. He's 69-73-142 after 36 holes, only three shots behind the leaders, Gary Player and Don January, and that's what Wall wants to apologize to him about.

Wall feels if it wasn't for him, Devlin would be better off than he is.

Incredible Chain

What makes Wall feel this way is an incredible chain of events he began when he skied and pulled his drive into the thick bushes which line the left side of the 11th hole, a par four 445-yard affair made tougher by a pond in front of the green.

Wall looked for his ball and so did his caddy and playing partner, Johnny Pott, but the three of them couldn't find it.

Under the rules, you're allowed five minutes to look for a lost ball and if you can't find it you have to go all the way back and hit another one. That's what Wall had to do and he took a 7 on the hole.

Ken Venturi and Joe Carr of Ireland were playing behind Wall and Pott and when they came to the 11th, naturally they had to wait. It showed on their scorecards. Venturi had a double bogey 6 on the hole and Carr a bogey 5.

Devlin and Gay Brewer, the defending champ, followed and when they reached the 11th Venturi and Carr still were on the tee waiting. Venturi explained Wall had lost his ball. It didn't bother Devlin. He was leading the whole show by two strokes at this point.

Brewer sat down on a bench and after Devlin went for a drink of water, he joined him.

What do guys like Brewer and Devlin talk about when they're sitting around waiting? Not politics or religion. Mostly golf. Here's how the conversation went:

Golf Conversation

Brewer: "It's hard to keep your momentum going when you have to wait this long."

Devlin: "That's right. You can't put your best swing on it."

Brewer: "Did you hear about Venturi breaking his driver?"

Devlin: "No. How did he do it?"

And so on.

Venturi and Carr finally hit their drives and when they left and were out of sight, Brewer got up because it was his honor.

He teed up his ball and swung. The ball sliced somewhat and before Brewer was all through his ball wound up in the water.

That was nothing compared to what happened to Devlin.

He not only hit his ball into the water but nearly fell in himself. Then he banged his ball into the bank in front of the green twice, causing one toddler among the spectators to ask his father, "Daddy, is that man killing snakes?"

Loses Lead

By the time poor Devlin holed out, he had an eight and he no longer was leading the tournament. Two other guys were.

Devlin didn't quit. He kept battling and wouldn't have had a 69 with any luck at all even with his eight. All things considered, his 73 was a fine round.

Everywhere he went they asked him about the 11th, but he never blamed his eight on Wall.

Patently he'd start out his ordeal each time:

"My drive was down near the left rough, but I had a good lie, and I was going to try to put the ball on the right front of the green, but I hooked it too much and..."

What about the long wait before he teed off?

"Well," said Devlin, "no one likes to wait, but I can't say anything else."

TV Contract

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association Thursday awarded the 1969 and 1970 NCAA basketball championship television rights to the National Broadcasting Company.

The 1968 schedule calls for the televising of regional double-headers on four dates, the semifinals and finals.

Pat's Coach

BOSTON (UPI)—Ross O'Hanley, a former defensive back with the original Boston Patriots, was named coach Thursday of their minor league club at Lowell, Mass.

Boston also announced the signing of two free agents for the 1968 American Football League season: Preston Johnson of Florida A&M and Bob Ellis of Massachusetts.

that was responsible for my making the eight. Actually, I felt worse about the five I made on the 17th. I'm standing there with a nine iron in my hand for my second shot, in perfect position, and I make five. I was hoping for three. That bothered me more than what happened on the 11th."

Wall Felt Upset

But when Wall heard about Devlin's trouble late in the day, he was upset and felt he caused it all.

"I'm really sorry," said the man who won the Masters here in 1959. "I didn't know. I guess I set off the whole thing."

And that's why Art Wall will hunt up Bruce Devlin on the course today before doing anything else.

Beard Will Teach Golf In Evening Telegraph

The money-winning methods of Goldom's Champion of Champions, Frank Beard, will be appearing regularly in The Dixon Evening Telegraph beginning Monday, April 15.

Beard's three-a-week columns will give valuable tips on how to improve your golf game all through the summer in the sports pages of The Telegraph.

In his "Shaving Strokes" columns, he takes you from tee to green with each club and explains exactly how to cut your score with valuable, expert advice.

A youngster on the pro circuit, Frank Beard at 28 was one of the top five money winners last year. He took the "Champion of Champions" title from Arnold Palmer in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas and followed that with a sensational final-hole win over Palmer in the Houston Champions' International. In both Champions' tournaments he met and defeated the best on the tour.

To start the 1968 season, Beard took $10,000 top money in the semifinal of Shell's Wonderful World of Golf March 26. His three-stroke win over Doug Sanders will be televised next winter. Arnold Palmer trailed Beard by six strokes in the three-man competition.

Julius Boros, one of the other top five money winners for 1968, says that Beard has the most perfect swing with any club. "If anybody's going to stay up with the top players, it is Beard."

Beard's ability to pass his winning techniques to readers of The Telegraph comes naturally.

He was reared in the home of a pro golf instructor, his father. His first big win was the 1957 state championship while a high school student in Louisville, Ky. While captain of the University of Florida golf squad in 1961, he was named to the NCAA All-America team.

The six-foot, 180-pounder turned pro in 1962 and won his first pro tournament, the Frank Sinatra Open, in 1963.

He became one of the top 10 money winners in 1966, and after his performances at Las Vegas and Houston, he joined the top five in 1967.

Beard explains that his success is primarily a result of following the advice contained in his articles written for The Telegraph. "I can name 25-30 players better than I am, but still I beat them."

Columnist Milton Gross in the New York Post credits Frank's consistency as the key to victory. "Consistency is his middle name," according to Gross.

Doug Ford agrees with Julius Boros. He says Beard has "the best swing of anybody" and "day-in and day-out, the best player out here." Al Geiberger merely stated Beard has "just a perfect swing, that's all."

Beard plays a conservative game and advises both weekend duffers and low handicappers to do the same. He tells you how to plan your game and avoid trouble along with specific advice on handling each club in the bag.

You can gain confidence and reduce your golf score by following Beard's instruction in The Telegraph starting next Monday.

Rochelle Girl To Girl's State

ROCHELLE — The Rochelle American Legion Auxiliary Unit will send Jo Ann Carmichael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carmichael, Rt. 1, Rochelle, as their candidate to the 28th annual session of "Girl's State" to be held June 11-18, on the campus of MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Ill.

Jo Ann, a junior honor student in Rochelle Township High School, was recommended and selected for this honor by a faculty committee and the administration of the local high school.

Since Girl's State is a program of education in the American form of government, candidates are selected and recommended on the basis of honesty, leadership, good character, scholarship and cooperativeness.

Jo Ann's varied activities in Rochelle Township High School include membership in the Spanish Club, choir, Jesters and Thespians, American Field Service Club, and Tattler Staff, of which she is currently co-editor of the classes section.

This year she is also a member of the Student Council, Chess Club and secretary of the Math Club. She is currently serving as secretary-treasurer of the Chess Club. Scholastically she ranks fourth in the junior class.

The purpose of the Illini Girl's State is to provide citizenship training each year for approximately 500 junior high school girls; to learn "by doing" the duties and responsibilities as well as rights and privileges of American citizenship, in order that they may better understand and participate in the functioning of our government.

Illini Girl's State is a mythical state, patterned after the State of Illinois and following Illinois government procedure as closely as possible. The girls form two political parties (non-partisan); hold conventions, campaigns and elections, and perform other duties pertaining to the various public offices.

Jo Ann's primary interests are in the area of mathematics and science. She hopes to further her studies at the University of Illinois after her graduation in June 1969.

Impeachment proceedings are brought by the U.S. House of Representatives.

day luncheon meeting of the Polo Rotary Club and presented Mrs. Lester Frey who spoke on her homeland, Fulda, Germany.

Mrs. Orville Blair conducted the business meeting and Mrs. W. H. Deter was devotional leader.

Mrs. W. E. Stackpole gave the program on Holy Week.

A farewell gift was presented to Mrs. E. V. Ennis who is leaving Polo to reside in Norfolk, Va. Presentation was made by Mrs. Fred Frawert.

ert McNabb read an Easter program.

A program followed presented by Robert Kraf, Shepherd of the Streets who works with drop-outs in the Rockford community. Mrs. Kraft was also a guest.

The Twentieth Century Club met Monday evening with Miss Irene Poole.
